Press Release

Tuesday, April 28, 2020

Komori Corporation Japan, one of the world's largest manufacturers of printing presses, have entered into a strategic partnership agreement with Gietz AG Switzerland, to promote its range of equipment to the worldwide security printing industry.

Komori will take this opportunity to further harness their brand of 'quality and trust' and maintain their position as the competitive and preferred security press supplier in the industry. Working with Gietz will allow Komori to expand their product portfolio and offer turnkey solutions to their customers. Komori Corporation is providing equipment to be more responsive to the needs of the industry working together closely with their customers and partners to enable them to offer more flexible solutions to match ever changing requirements.

Gietz AG produces machinery designed for the application of holograms (registered patches, registered and un-registered stripes) onto banknotes and other complex security documents and will bring their extensive knowledge of this niche market sector to this agreement.

Furthermore, the complete product range of Gietz AG will continue to be available through the various sales structures in different regions and will also provide Komori the opportunity of benefitting from this well-functioning distribution network and vice versa.

Komori Corporation are delighted to be associated with such a well-respected company in this industry such as Gietz AG and are very much looking forward to developing the partnership between the two organizations.
